

I Am Lesson 5

How do you stop other people from affecting the positive outlook you have for yourself and in your life?

There are always challenges when it comes to accepting someone in a relationship. What is the difference between tolerating and accepting?

What does it truly mean to accept someone fully?